SOUTHWEST
HIGH SCHOOL
SAN ANTONIO, TX.

A New Beginning . . .

As each school year begins, everyone brings something new to Southwest to help continue the striving to make our school the best that it can possibly be. Students bring new goals and new dreams, new faces appear; new rules are enforced. The 1986-87 school year brought changes that helped continue the Southwest tradition.

In September, the junior class and Southwest make history by presenting "Rock-fest '86"-the first ever rock concert to be held on a school campus. For the first time in it's history, the Southwest student council was elected president of the AASC district. New gates were installed in the school building. William Holmes and Laura Yzaguirre began their first year as vice- principals.

Whether we were cheering one of the Dragon sports teams on to victory, participating in school functions and activities, earning a scholarship, or just spreading "Dragon Pride", we helped keep the Southwest tradition alive.

Homecoming

During football season, Dragon Pride and school spirit get the school year off to an exciting start. This year the entire high school staff and student body showed their spirit by participating in the traditional homecoming activities.

Spirit week kicked off the festivities with students and faculty members dressing according to the fashion of the day. Monday was jersey day, Tuesday was western day, Wednesday was Hawaiian day, Thursday was fashion day, and Friday was Green & White day.

A bonfire was held Wednesday night behind the high school as a warm up for the game Friday night against the Central Catholic Buttons.

During halftime of the game, the 1986 Homecoming court was presented and the Homecoming Queen announced. This year's court included seniors Maria Flores, Tisha Ingram, Frances Mendoza, and Janet Ramos; junior Patty Torres; sophomore Laura Loya; and freshman Melissa Villarreal.

After the 35-14 victory over the Buttons, the senior class sponsored a homecoming dance in the high school mall.

Powder Puff Football

The traditional powder puff football game held each year in the spring gives the girls a chance to show the school that they, too, can play football. In the underclassman game, the Sophomores defeated the Freshmen 12-0. The senior girls were victorious in the upperclassman game narrowly defeating the junior girls by the score of 6-4. 1987 Dragon and Dragonette

Ty Detmer Janet Ramos

The Dragon and Dragonette are selected by the teachers at Southwest High School. Faculty members look for certain qualities that make these students outstanding.

Ty Detmer and Janet Ramos are both very dedicated students. They have demonstrated leadership throughout their high school years. Ty and Janet spent many hours trying to build and expand their academic skills as well as added time on extracurricular activities.

Ty received a four year scholarship to attend Brigham Young University. There he will major in education and will play football for the university. Ty was asked how he felt about being chosen Dragon. He replied, "I think it's a big accomplishment to be recognized as an outstanding person by the teachers."

Janet will be attending St. Mary's University for the first few years. She plans to major in broadcast journalism or political science. When asked why she felt she was chosen as Dragonette Janet said, "I'm a hard working and dependable person and I also respect and admire my teachers and look to them for guidance."

Support Personnel

Seniors Cindy Alvarado and Jana Peters sample foods prepared by food service classes.

Students study the "before and after" pictures of a sports car restored and repainted by auto body classes.

Sciences

Social Studies

(top right) Seniors complete assignments in the "must pass" government/economics class. (right) Students use the library for research for social studies assignments. (below) It's test time for seniors in Mr. Monroe's government class.

Mr. Monroe returns test scores in government class. Leah Garza seems relieved at her grade. (below) It must be time for the bell, as students seem ready to go.

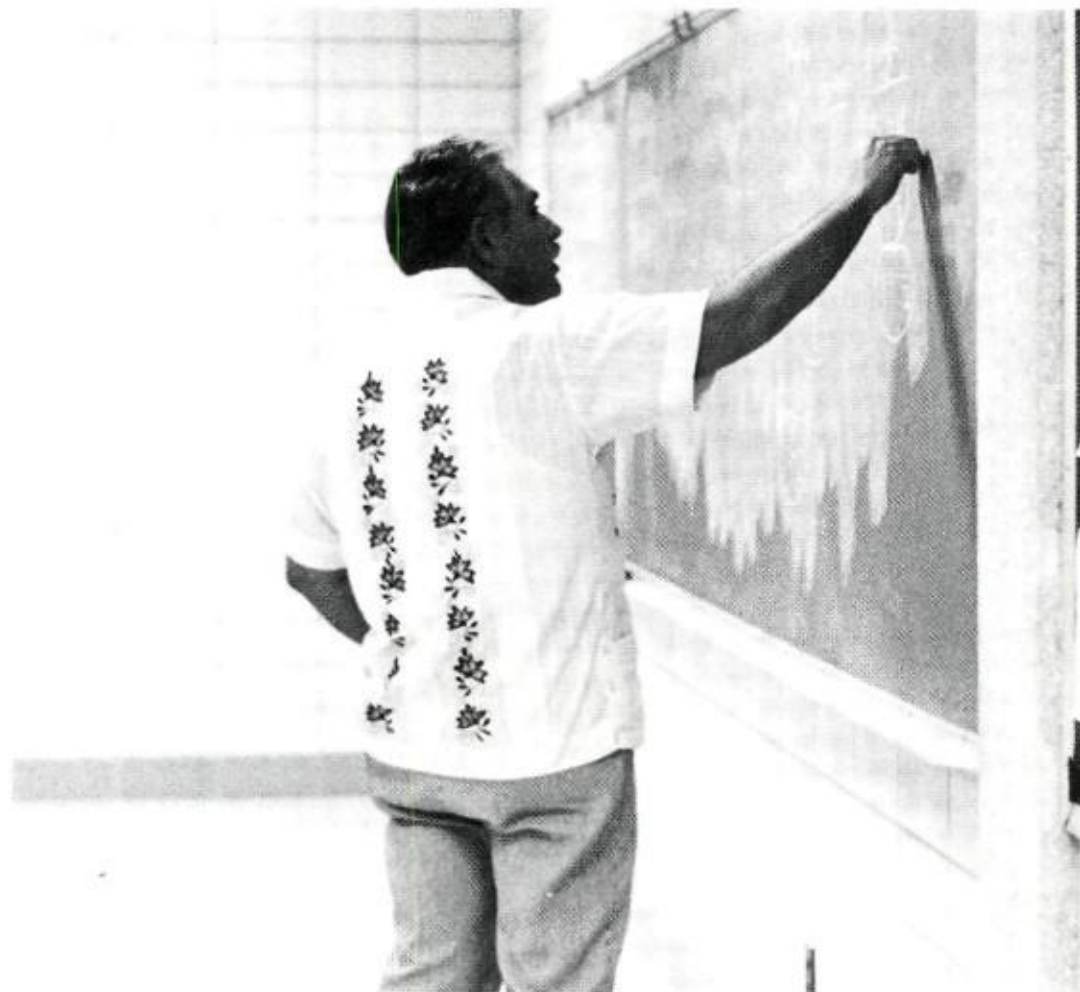

Math

Students in Ms. Tooloose's Consumer math class had to plan and budget the costs involved in a wedding. After the planning and budgeting, a mock wedding was staged in class. (right) Victor Garza (the dad) and Betty Garza (the bride) during the wedding ceremony. (below) The happy bride and groom, Betty Garza and Lupe Paredes, feed each other the traditional wedding cake.

Drivers Education Physical Education

Mr. Saldivar instructs auto mechanics students on engine repair.
